Internet is the most important information platform for consumers

- About 82 % of German consumers inform themselves via online media about a product before purchase

Source ibi research 2012

Communication to the appropriate target groups requires multiple media channels

A variety of new digital media channels came along in the last decade

Conventional Media Production

Print

Web Sites

Mobile Devices

Diversity of media channels holds new challenges

- High efforts for creating and maintaining of the different media products
- High efforts to coordinate the different media production processes
- Production know-how for different media types
- Data management
  - Content distribution
  - Content updates

Digital Publishing: Database Publishing

A PIM-System becomes the central platform in the company:

- 2008 introduction of a database for product information
- 2009 production of first catalogues in the area of Mobile Security with layers for language and price variants
- 2010 live release of WebShops (Mobile Sicherheit) – fully automatic data exchange to PIM
- 2010 to 2012 more catalogues from other areas

Digital Publishing: Database Publishing

A PIM-System becomes the central platform in the company:

- 2012 data export as XML for the retail platform mercateo
- 2013 all ABUS catalogues are now being produced with Prinect Media Manager (= Neozenzai), automated
- 2013 more languages launched for abus.com - more technical writers get access to Prinect Media Manager to handle their translations themselves
- 2013 data provision for an Austrian Webshop (output connection to Navision)

Digital Publishing: Database Publishing

A PIM-System becomes the central platform in the company:

- 2014 catalogue for Poland could be produced with just 2 correction cycles
- 2014 introduction of an ERP-interface for product specific info, also in various languages
- 2014 Internet- and WebShop-texts were the same and therefore just for the specialist trade. With the introduction of an online editorial department it was possible to create consumer texts, which could address this target group as well.
- 2014 to 2015 (partly planned):
  - Data export for further projects like webshops or catalogs or to platforms
- ... AND NO END IN SIGHT

Digital Publishing: Database Publishing

A PIM-System becomes the central platform in the company:

Summary:

Languages in PIM and Website: 17 (German, English, French, Dutch,...)

Number of catalogues: 13 (all and single catalogues)

Number of variants : 31 (language and prices)

Number of articles in website: about 5.100

Number of articles in the webshop: about 6.700

Distribution channels: catalogues/ new products - infos

WebSite

WebShops

retail platforms

Prinect Media Manager in Use at BVD

Druck+Verlag AG

Reasons for BVD for using a PIM/MAM solution

- Almost 10 years looking for an appropriate solution
- Looked at various products in the market including testing (i.e.. Products like Opix, Pixelbox, Scoutbase...)
- To survive in our „printing market“ we should not have just printing competence but first of all have competence in media neutral data
- The output media paper will be just a part of the Marketing-Mix
- Paper has lost value perception during the last years (not anymore attractive enough)
- We must learn to think connected and not just sell print products

Starting with Prinect Media Manager – a Pilot project

- 2012 looking at Neo7even and Prinect Media Manager, ongoing until 2013 with further presentations
- We won a customer who was willing to be part of the pilot with one of his products
- Example:
  - 12pager monthly promotion brochure with a large number of products
  - Set up in 3 languages
  - Many corrections via phone, via mail, via PDF with comments
  - Many people involved, who steadily forward changes to us.
  - Little time for the printing itself and for distributing the product

In the Pilot project: what was re-arranged in a new way

- We set up a data structure
- Every product (article) and its dependencies was entered into the system (product, packaging unit, pricing unit, product pictures, etc. ...)
- Rules were set up to automate the (print) product
- Customer was informed, so the customer was able to make corrections himself directly in the document in the Prinect Media Manager Module Layout
- The June Issue was the first to be produced as brochure with Prinect Media Manager

Possible Areas of Problems for us

- The system Prinect Media Manager is set up very clear and easy but a network thinking is necessary
- For more complex topics or projects we need to rely on the Know How of Neo7even
- The investment for the system is high and therefore one should already have a customer to work with to cover the costs
- To build up and keep in-house know how orders especially for this system are needed (everyone is different).
- We had to build up and train our sales staff to sell the system and the production with it. Also you need internal employees who are trained on the product and have a faible for it.
- More complex projects take a lot of time (learning curve, customer, preparation of project)
- Customer must be involved into the project, as one needs a lot of infos from the customer to make the project work.
- Central question: Does the customer have time to work within the project and is he willing to pay for the service
- Basically: customers always seem to have time to look for data, but never seem to have money to get their system straight

Conclusion

- Prinect Media Manager is a very good product
- It needs big efforts to engage employees internally
- Prinect Media Manager could be a new access to customers for BVD and could connect existing customers even closer to us
- The big questions: does the customer see the advantage and is the customer willing to provide man power and take over costs (i.e. license costs, project costs)
- As we are still in the pilot phase, we will find out in the next 12 to 16 month
